Thacker Cheatham Given Thor Award

Thacker Cheatham, of Spout Spring, has been presented with a Certificate of Merit in Farm Mechanics, awarded by the Thor Center for Better Farm Living, Huntley, Ill., for showing the greatest farm mechanics ability among the graduating seniors of Appomattox High School.

Neil C. Hurley, Jr., founder of the Thor Center, a non - profit farm research organization located in northern Illinois, established the Farm Mechanics Award to honor the member of each senior high school class deemed most outstanding in his proficiency to apply farm mechanics to the effective use of farm shop equipment and tools in the maintenance of farm machinery and in building projects to provide improved farm living and operating efficiency. The selection is made by the student's vocational agriculture teacher.

Successful Hunt For Groundhogs

Little William Clyde O'Brien, son of Mr. and Mrs. Derry O'Brien of Evergreen, proudly stands by the evidence that Mr. O'Brien can hit groundhogs. The groundhogs have been raiding the O'Briens' garden long enough, said Mrs. O'Brien, and she brought down four of the "varmits" recently with just two shots from her shotgun. Since this is her first experience shooting with a shotgun, even an experienced hunter might have to agree that this is pretty good shooting.
